For some reason my "parent directory" is the 3rd row (I have a header row and a separator before the directory listing starts). Change '/' to whatever pathname you want to hide the parent link for, eg. '/builds/' - it should automatically be hidden for a root pathname anyway. -

Directory-based Tasks.
Some tasks use directory trees for the actions they perform.
For example, the javac task, which compiles a directory tree with
.java files into .class files, is one of these
directory-based tasks.
Because some of these tasks do so much work with a directory tree, the task itself can act as an implicit FileSet..
